Liver Transplant Surgery

Across

1. TRANSPLANT—A patient with primary hepatic cancer is suitable for ________surgery

5. PARENCHYMA—Digital pressure against the _____ results in finger fracture of the liver tissue

10. PORTOSYSTEMICSHUNT—A vascular anastomosis between the portal and systemic venous systems

11. LIVER—The largest gland in the body

12. BILE—Hepatocytes manufacture this

Down

2. PORTALVEIN—Blood from the stomach flows to the liver via the

3. REANASTAMOSIS—An important aspect in transplant surgery is _______ of the blood vessels

4. PORTAHEPATIS—The ________ is located on the inferior surface of the liver and provides entry/exit for major vessels

6. GLISSONCAPSULE—A tough fibrous sheath that covers the liver

7. EIGHTY—Percentage of the liver which can be resected without affecting hepatic function

8. BLUNT—When suturing the liver, this type of needle should be used

9. LOBULE—A functional unit of the liver is called a