

Across

3. The trauma patient who is hypotensive and has left upper quadrant pain can require _____ to determine abdominal bleeding
7. A collection of blood in the pleural space can be caused by either blunt or penetrating trauma. This collection of blood is known as _____.
9. This type of fracture is considered a surgical emergency
10. A patient who presents status post fall that resulted in subdural hematoma. The procedure used in treatment is :
11. Cauda Equina is a spinal injury that occurs in what region of the spine?
12. The LeFort _____ involves the zygomatic arch
13. Close proximity to an explosion can result in _____
14. This type of chest wound is the result of a projectile or knife.
15. Hemostasis of scalp edges during craniotomy requires a _____ clip(s).
16. The procedure to correct skull defects is known as

Down

1. Patients with suspected spinal injuries should be _____ when positioning
2. As a result of _____ war injuries, the military has started providing Kevlar underpants as added protection for the troops
4. An intraoperative complication with splenectomy procedures is
5. Injuries that occur in the cervical region result in _____
6. Traumatic limb injury can result in:
8. The correct procedure name for removing a damaged eye is

