

Specimen Management

CW115

To complete this activity, the participant will need to access and read the Specimen Management section within the 2018 AORN Guidelines for Perioperative Practice. AORN. (2018). Specimen management. In Guidelines for perioperative practice (pp. 439-468). Denver, CO: AORN.

ACROSS

4. When cleaning instruments that have had contact with radioactive material, _____ precautions should be followed.
6. Ideally, amputated digits for replantation should have a minimum amount of warm _____ time.
7. Regulatory requirements state that specimen containers should be resistant to _____ and leak proof.
10. Air exposure of specimens can lead to this occurrence.
12. Transport devices must be labeled with this information.
14. Labels for specimen containers should communicate patient, specimen, biohazard information and _____.
15. Patients of _____ faith believe that amputated limbs should be buried.

DOWN

1. The regulatory body that requires manufacturers to track implantable devices.
2. The transfer of specimens from the sterile field should be done in a way that maintains the _____ of the specimen.
3. A combustible liquid for preserving specimens.
5. When collected for evidence, _____ should not be placed in metal basins.
8. Eyewash stations should be located within _____ seconds from the location of chemical use.
9. When a radiation seed is removed, it should be _____ placed in a sealed specimen container.
11. When determining the special needs for collection, handling, or disposing of specimens, the _____ and personal preferences of the patient should be assessed.
12. _____ tissue is recommended to be placed in fixative within one hour.
13. An _____ event is an error that causes the patient an inconvenience or harm.

Novice O.R. Nurse Course
info@ORnurse.org

RNFA Training Program
info@RNFA.org

* Content reviewed by the CCI Nursing Education Department for alignment with clinical practice standards. CCI does not require, recommend, or endorse specific training programs in specialized practice areas for any of its exams. This is an example of a future points activity for recertification in collaboration with CCI.